

---

IPL Hair Removal

IPL hair removal is a convenient method for permanently eliminating unwanted facial hair and body hair. Unlike its painful, less effective predecessor electrolysis, IPL hair removal is fast and painless for most individuals who undergo the treatment. IPL hair removal can treat larger areas of hair simultaneously for efficiency and convenience. Individuals who desire permanent, quick hair removal need to have IPL hair removal performed at least three times due to hair's natural growth cycle. Hair grows in three distinct phases known as Anagen, Telogen and Catagen. The only way for a hair to be permanently eliminated is for it to be treated with IPL hair removal while it is in its growth phase. Since adjacent hairs are concurrently in different hair growth phases, it is necessary to have IPL hair removal performed three times at regular intervals. Performing IPL hair removal multiple times ensures that the patient enjoys long-lasting hair removal of all the hairs in the desired area of removal.

IPL hair removal is actually a very cost effective method for permanently eliminating unwanted hair. Since the results of the IPL hair removal procedure last for a lifetime, it ends up being much more reasonable in the long term than bi-weekly or monthly waxing appointments and a lot more convenient as well. Los Angeles residents seeking a top laser hair removal clinic need look no further than the Renaissance Laser and Vein Institute for their IPL hair removal needs.

Back to Related Contents